Teaching Summary for Isaiah 55: part 8

Isaiah Chapter 55

Chapter 55 is the invitation from the LORD to come and partake of the glorious salvation He has prepared through the death of the Servant – the Lord Jesus Christ.

Chapter 55 is addressed first to the remnant of Israel in the last days (verses 1-5), and then to individual people (verses 6- 9). In verses 10-11, the LORD promises to fulfill His word. Verses 12-13 are a hymn of rejoicing.

Let's continue our verse-by-verse study of Isaiah 55.

The second paragraph is Isaiah 55:6-13. It has three parts:

Verses 6-9	Individual invitation
Verses 10-11	The LORD promises to fulfill His word
Verses 12-13	Hymn of rejoicing

Let's now read Isaiah 55:6-13.

Verses 6-9	Individual invitation
------------	-----------------------

Verse 6: The imperative to seek the Lord and to call upon Him is a central feature of the prophets, and Isaiah is no exception. Look for example at Isaiah 45:20-23.

Verse 7: First, notice “his way” and “his thoughts”. This is clearly talking about an individual. The call is personal, to each one. Isaiah teaches that salvation for Israel is both individual and corporate (the nation).

Here we have the thoughts and ways of a wicked, unrighteous person. When we get to verses 8-9, this will be contrasted with the thoughts and ways of the LORD.

Each and every person is born wicked and unrighteous. There is none righteous, even one. See Psalm 14:1-6. So each and every person needs the Redeemer, Jesus Christ. See Isaiah 53:5-6. Isaiah pleads for the people return to the LORD. See Isaiah 54:7-10.

Then LORD will have compassion on them. He will abundantly pardon. See Isaiah 44:22-24. Note the reference to the mountains shouting out with joy, just like we have in Isaiah 55:12.

The message of forgiveness of sins is announced again and again in Isaiah. See Isaiah 1:18, 40:2, 43:25, and 59:16-20.

Verses 8-9: The dramatic contrast between the LORD's ways and man's ways is described here.

Psalm 103:8-12 uses the figure of the heavens and the earth to portray the compassion and forgiveness of the LORD. We have come full circle.

Verses 10-11	The LORD promises to fulfill His word
---------------------	---------------------------------------

Verses 10-11: In verse 10, Isaiah adds to the image: the rain and snow from heaven water the earth, furnishing seed and bread. In Verse 11, he completes the metaphor. He is really speaking about the word of the LORD! It goes forth from the mouth of the LORD in heaven, and rains down on the people of the earth.

Just as the rain does not return to the heavens (evaporation) without completing its job, so too, the word of God does not return to Him without accomplishing His purpose.

The rain producing bread is a potent image in Isaiah. In Isaiah 30:23, it's literal rain and seed, and literal bread. This describes the great fertility of the earth during the Messianic Kingdom.

In Isaiah 45:8, the rain is a picture of righteousness from heaven. The harvest is salvation.

What about the church? Jesus is the bread of life, eternal life.

We are called to produce fruit. In 2 Corinthians 9:8-11, Paul uses the image of seed and bread to describe the grace of God. The context is giving financially. The LORD provides over and above what we need so that we will have an abundance to give to other brethren who are poor and needy.

Verses 12-13:

In verse 12, the mountains and the hills rejoice. They join the chorus. The mountains and the hills play an important role in the Psalms and the prophets. Let's look at five passages that describe this:

Psalm 65:6-13; Psalm 98; Song of Solomon 2:8; Isaiah 44:23; Joel 3:8

In verse 13, the cypress and the myrtle are the everlasting sign of life. This life is the life of God which He brings to the remnant of Israel on earth. It is the sign of the resurrection of Christ. His resurrection is the source of eternal life for all who believe in Him.
